HELPING YOU BUILD WEALTH

Negative Gearing for Property is when you borrow money to acquire a property and the interest and expense exceeds the rental income you receive from the tenants.

Creating wealth through purchasing an investment property is a well established practice in this country.

The obvious attraction of borrowing or gearing to invest is that you can purchase a property that might otherwise have been unaffordable and the strategy can also be tax effective because individuals can offset the loss against other assessable income.

The real benefits of negative gearing are only realised when you combine the correct tax and financial advice with a suitable property in the right location funded by the most appropriate loan product. As such, you should always seek expert advice and make sure the purchase is within your budget and will deliver long term financial benefits supported by taxation concessions.

We've assisted many clients when buying a negatively geared property as part of their wealth creation strategy and you can benefit from our experience.

If you were to believe some people, it would all seem very simple - buy the right property in the right location and then have the tenant and the Tax Office partially fund your tax loss while you sit back and profit from the appreciating property. The truth is, while gearing can amplify your gain it can also magnify your losses.

In order to negative gear property, you need to understand the below key points:

- Investing in property requires planning and the tax benefits should not be the only reason for the property purchase.
- The family home is a purchase from the heart while an investment property needs to be a purchase from the head. Planning and research is required and the old saying that the three most important things when buying a property are 'location, location, location' rings true when buying an investment property.
- Negative Gearing isn't suitable for all investors because it implies a negative cash flow that you will need to fund from other income sources. The income tax and capital gains tax implications will depend on factors such as the ownership structure, marginal tax rate and holding period.
- Properties generally only create profits through capital gains that accumulate over a medium to long term period. They are illiquid assets which can't be sold overnight which could pose problems should your circumstances change.

WHILE GEARING CAN AMPLIFY YOUR GAINS, IT CAN ALSO MAGNIFY YOUR LOSSES

We are in a unique position to advise you regarding the process of purchasing and maintaining a negatively geared investment property. We understand your tax position and have access to analytical software designed to produce reports including 10 year cash flow projections, taxable income forecasts and future equity predictions.

One of the most important decisions you need to make when purchasing an investment property is which entity or person should own the property. We can recommend the appropriate structure so you maximize the tax savings and protect your investment.

There are a number of factors to consider because transferring the property at a later date can prove costly with stamp duty and capital gains tax implications. We're here to help choose the best course of action.

ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT DECISIONS YOU NEED TO MAKE WHEN PURCHASING AN INVESTMENT PROPERTY IS WHICH ENTITY/PERSON SHOULD OWN THE PROPERTY

Obtaining the right loan can nearly be as important as finding the right property. Interest only, principal and interest, fixed or variable are all key considerations.

Finance needs to be planned to suit your ultimate investment goal and should not focus on fees, interest rates or other gimmicks used by lenders to get your business. Get it wrong and the costs of rearranging loans with 'deferred establishment fees' and early payout penalties can waste thousands of dollars.

We liaise with mortgage brokers and financiers to help you obtain the right loan, correctly structured for maximum tax effect.
